

Claudia Zamora

Ms. Claudia H. Zamora is the Founder and CEO of Zamora Consulting Group, LLC a Minority-Owned, Woman-Owned Small Business providing services in management consulting, accreditation, program and project management and compliance. Ms. Zamora has over 18 years of consulting and industry experience in healthcare and higher education, as well as 13 years in medical school planning and accreditation.

Since 2007, Ms. Zamora's work focused on the planning and development of new allopathic medical schools, working on Liaison Committee on Medical Education (LCME) professional accreditation phases: preliminary, provisional and full accreditation, as well as regional accreditation processes. Ms. Zamora has been involved with numerous higher education institutions and has been intimately involved in the LCME process—both in the startup of new medical schools and in the continuation of accreditation.

Prior to opening her consulting firm in 2017, Ms. Zamora worked for PricewaterhouseCoopers, LLP (PwC) for 12.5 years as a Manager in the Healthcare Advisory and Strategy& Practice. Ms. Zamora served as Practice Lead for New and Developing Medical Schools. In addition to serving as LCME project lead and subject matter expert, she conducted feasibility and academic planning studies for universities and health centers in the process of developing early planning for potential new medical and health professions schools (allopathic and osteopathic); and conducted academic program reviews of medicine, dentistry, nursing, and allied health programs.

Ms. Zamora's experience expands in national and international healthcare engagements in the following areas: strategic planning, strategic transformation, design and implementation, mergers and acquisitions, organizational redesign of major academic medical centers and health systems. Ms. Zamora has worked alongside senior management, C-Suite, cross-functional teams, clients/customers and industry leaders in public, private and non-profit sectors.

In 2016, Ms. Zamora was appointed to serve on the Board of Directors for the National Hispanic Medical Association (NHMA).

Ms. Zamora graduated with a Master of Arts degree in Public Administration with a Concentration in Management Consulting from American University, Washington, DC 2002; and a Bachelor of Arts degree in International Relations and Political Science; Certificates in Law, Ethics & Society; and Ethnic Studies from Florida International University, Miami, FL 1999.

Ana Lía Graciano, MD, FAAP, FCCM

Dr. Ana Lía Graciano is Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Maryland School of Medicine and a senior attending in the Division of Pediatric Critical Care at the University of Maryland where she serves as medical director of the PCICU. Originally from Argentina, she completed her critical care training in the US at Massachusetts General Hospital-Harvard Medical School and Children's Medical Center of Dallas-UT Southwestern Medical Center. She collaborates extensively with local and international networks in advancing pediatric critical care within and outside the United States. Dr. Graciano is a member of the Overcoming COVID-19 Investigators a research network aiming to understand the mechanisms and management of this devastating disease in children and young adults and has lectured extensively on the impact of COVID-19 in children.

She has been an active member of the Pediatric Acute Lung Injury and Sepsis investigators since its inception in 2002, collaborating in multicenter studies aiming to identify preventive and therapeutic strategies for sepsis, acute lung injury and other systemic inflammatory syndromes in critically ill children. She participated in the development of and coauthored the American College of Critical Care Medicine Pediatric Sepsis Guidelines and has led several initiatives to improve pediatric sepsis at her workplace and beyond.

She recently cofounded PILARES, a network of Latin American pediatric intensivists residing in the United States aiming to expand collaboration, knowledge exchange and educational activities throughout the Americas. Dr. Graciano is member of several national and international medical societies and is the recipient of several awards for her contributions to pediatric critical care. She is board certified in Pediatrics and Pediatric Critical Care Medicine and is a fellow of both the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American College of Critical Care Medicine.

Luis Martin Gomez, MD, MScE

Title: Perinatologist, Associate Professor, Division of Maternal-Fetal Medicine, Department of Obstetrics & Gynecology.

Organization: Inova Health System

Bio:

- Born in Lima Peru
- Medical School: Universidad Nacional Mayor de San Marcos, Lima
- Residency in Obstetrics and Gynecology: Hospital San Bartolome, Lima
- Postdoctoral Research Fellowship: University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia PA
- 2nd Residency in Obstetrics and Gynecology: Eastern Virginia Medical School, in Norfolk VA
- Clinical Fellowship in Maternal-Fetal Medicine: University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia PA
- Masters in Clinical Epidemiology: University of Tennessee Health Science Center, in Memphis TN
- Director of Rotation in Maternal Fetal Medicine, INOVA Health System ObGyn Residency Program
- Clinical interests in pregnancy: infectious diseases, cardiovascular disease, prematurity prevention, solid organ transplant, fetal malformation, invasive procedures

Sergio Rimola, MD FACOG

Completed a residency program in Obstetrics and Gynecology at Sisters and Charity Hospital affiliated with SUNY at Buffalo. Board certified member of the American Congress of Obstetrics and Gynecology since 1993.

He has been an attending OB/Gyn Physician at Inova Fairfax Hospital since 1997. Hold a part time position at Inova Ob/Gyn. Faculty appointments at GWU as Clinical Instructor at the department of Medicine. VCU and UVA as Associated Clinical Professor of Ob/Gyn, serving as a preceptor and mentor for medical students, residents, and nurse practitioners.

He serves in the National Hispanic Medical Association as DC-Metro Region Co-Chairperson.

Board Member of the Virginia Latino Advisory Board since 2015. Member of the Virginia Latino Advisory Board since 2016. Current member of the Northern Virginia AHEC advisory board and the Fairfax Health Department Multicultural Council and Board member of VALHEN (The Virginia Higher Education Network)